

Subject: Proposal: Unique Team-Building & Wellness Event for [Company Name]

Hi [Name of HR Manager or Boss],

I hope you're having a great week.

I'm reaching out because I found a fantastic opportunity for [Company Name] to promote team bonding and employee wellness this year. It's called the Florida Trail Team Challenge (www.floridatrailteamchallenge.com).

Unlike typical corporate outings, this is an outdoor team-based trail event designed for all fitness levels. Instead of competing individually, employees participate in teams, making it a true exercise in collaboration, mutual support, and camaraderie.

I believe sponsoring a company team (or multiple teams) would be a huge win for us for a few reasons:

- 1. Boosts Morale & Teamwork: It's a great way to break down silos and let coworkers connect in a fun, healthy environment outside the office.
- 2. Turnkey Corporate Wellness: It aligns perfectly with wellness goals by encouraging healthy habits and stress reduction, without us having to spend time or resources planning an event from scratch.
- 3. Company Pride: We can wear company shirts, and there is even a dedicated Corporate Division where we can compete against other local businesses for bragging rights (and a trophy!).

They offer corporate packages that make registration seamless. I would love to champion this, organize our internal roster, and get people excited to represent [Company Name].

Could we take 5 minutes this week to discuss if [Company Name] can sponsor a team for this event?

Best regards,
